WOMAN'S RELIEF

A really healthy woman has little pain or discomfort at the menstrual period. No woman needs to have any. Wine of Cardui will quickly relieve those smarting menstrual pains and the dragging head, back and side aches caused by falling of the womb and irregular menses.

WINE OF CARDUI

has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 women who suffered every month. It makes the menstrual organs strong and healthy. It is the provision made by Nature to give women relief from the terrible aches and pains which blight so many homes.

GREENWOOD, LA., Oct. 14, 1900.
I have been very sick for some time. I was taken with a severe pain in my side and could not get any relief until I tried a bottle of Wine of Cardui. Before I had taken all of it I was relieved. I feel it my duty to say that you have a wonderful medicine.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.
The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation.
With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

CAUGHT ALOFT

I was apprenticed to a decorative painter; but, being of a bold, danger loving turn, I ran away to sea before my time was out. After some years I tired of a maritime life, and, having married and determined to stick to the shore, I got work with a builder whose peculiar line lay in erecting tall chimneys. I had always a very cool head and could stand on elevations that made most men dizzy, and so I was soon a favorite hand with my master.

We had on one occasion to fasten a lightning conductor which had sprung near the top of a very high chimney, and Mr. Staming chose myself and one James Colly to do it as the most daring of his men. About half a dozen of us went that morning with a handcart containing the necessary ropes, blocks, the kite and a box or cradle. Having flown the kite and dropped its line across the top of the chimney, we soon drew up a rope, at the end of which was a block, through which ran the line whereby we were to be drawn up.

Colly had only been married a fortnight, and as we stepped into the cradle the men banteringly asked him if he hadn't a last dying speech to leave for his wife, and then, Mr. Staming having shaken hands with us and bid us be cool and steady, we were drawn slowly up. It was known all over the town that the conductor was to be fixed, and the streets were thronged with starers. Colly was very quiet, and when I waved my cap to the people he said snappishly that this was no time for such folly and that he thought I might think of better things than how to amuse these gaping fools, who, he dared say, desired no better fun than to see us meet with an accident.

I had come up in the best heart, thinking indeed nothing about the danger we incurred, but as we drew nearer and nearer to the top and saw nothing, as it seemed, belonging to this world near to us but this straining rope I began to see the peril of the undertaking. What Colly thought of it I don't know. He sat at the bottom of the cradle, never looking out, though I told him he would do better to keep his eyes about him, so that he might grow used to the height.

Good heavens! What was this? Here we were within a yard of the top projecting coping, and still they were winding away without slacking speed in the least. I guessed in a moment that they mistook our height and that with the great purchase of that windlass the rope would be broken when the cradle came to the block. I sprang up and, catching the rope, climbed hand over hand to the coping. Colly, too, sprang up and followed me. He, too, got up safe. And still they went on winding up till the rope sung again with the strain.

Then it snapped, and cradle, hauling line and the main rope, with its block, fell down. Thus we were two poor men left in a most desperate situation.

Poor Colly was completely dazed with affright, and the moment he got on the coping, which was only a foot and a half broad, he called out: "Where can I pray? Where can I kneel and pray?" And so I said very solemnly: "Sit down, Jem. God will hear us if we pray to him sitting down."

The color of his face was a transparent blue, and it was distorted and twitching as if he was in a fit. His eyes were very wild and drawn into a squint, and he couldn't sit steady, but swayed his body backward and forward, so that I felt certain that he must topple over.

"Come, Jem, lad," I said, thinking to take the fright off him. "It's bad enough, but it can't be mended. Hitch up a bit and put your arm around the rod. Maybe it will steady you."

"Where are you, and where is this rod?" he asked in a very hollow voice, though he was looking straight at me, and the rod was only a foot or two to his left. By this I knew that he was gone blind with the fright, and self preservation said, "Don't go near him." But then I remembered his new wedded wife and that, taking him all through, he was always a very decent fellow, and I thought how I should have liked him to have done if I had been in his case. So I determined to run a bit of risk in his favor. Of course I durst not get on my feet; but, working myself on by my hands, I got to him, and, putting my arm around his waist and telling him as cheerily as I could to keep cool, I got him with his arm around the rod. It had, however, sprung the stapling for five yards down and was so loose that it swayed with him, and I expected any minute to see him falling head and heels down and the rod tearing away with him.

There was great bustle down below. People were running around the yard and pushing to get in, but as yet there were but some score of men at the foot of the chimney, and by close looking I saw them put somebody on a board and carry him gently away toward the engine house. One of the men walked after with a hat in his hand. I knew then that somebody had been hurt by the falling cradle and that it must be poor Mr. Staming, as none of our men wore hats. Not a face was turned up to us. I learned afterward that our men were so taken up with sorrow that so good a man and so kind a master should be killed that for awhile they had never a thought about us, and the people outside imagined that we had come down with the cradle, so thus we were left in isolation for twenty minutes.

While I was watching them below, feeling very sorry for my poor master, I was startled by a wild laugh from Colly, who began making catcalls and yelling as if he was possessed. Then I knew that he had gone mad. Even now I tremble when I think of that time. It was horrible to peer down the shaft, black and sooty and yawning, and scarcely less so to look outside and see a flight of pigeons sweeping around at considerably less height than we were. Then Colly—thank God, he was so dazed that he could not see me—called my name three times as I sat fairly cringing in dread that his sight might clear, and with a ghastly grin and chewing with his mouth he began working himself toward me.

I worked away from him as noiselessly as I could, with every hair of my head standing on end. He followed me twice around that horrid coping, making most hideous noises, and then, having come a second time to the rod, he got an idea in his muddled head that I had fallen over, for he never lost a sense of where he was all through this trying time. Then he tried to get on his feet, but at the risk of my own life I could not let the poor fellow rush to certain death without one more effort, so I cried out for him to sit down. He cowered down like a whipped dog, all trembling. I suppose it had been put into his head that I was a dead man speaking to him.

That morning my wife had got a letter from her sister in Canada, and as there were parts we could not make out I had put it in my pocket, intending to get our timekeeper to read it for me. It had a scrap of uncovered paper at the bottom, and by another good providence I happened to have a bit of red lead pencil in my pocket. I wrote on the paper: "Get us down. Colly's gone mad." This I shut in my tobacco box and was fortunate enough to drop it just at the feet of two men who were standing by the engine house door.

Directly all was bustle to rescue us. They got the kite up again, and I watched it mounting slowly, slowly, and when the slack twine fell between Colly and myself I took it in my hand and could have kissed it. Poor Colly, with his teeth chattering, still fancied I was a spirit, and I did all I could to favor that idea until they got another cradle up to us. Then, having got him in, I scrambled in myself, and, clutching him fast, I shouted for them to lower. And so we were got down, he wrestling and fighting with me all the way.

He was in a madhouse for some months and then went to scavengering, for he never would face any height again. And I have never had the same clear head since that adventure.

Sayings of Smart Children.

"Some years ago," said a preacher, "we inaugurated in our Sunday school the practice of our children quoting some Scriptural text as they dropped their pennies into the contribution box. On the first Sunday in question a little shaver walked up and said, 'The Lord loveth a cheerful giver,' and in dropped his penny. 'Charity shall cover a multitude of sins,' and in dropped the next. 'It is more blessed to give than to receive,' quoted the third, and so on. Just then up walked a little fellow with the unmistakable remnants of molasses candy on his chubby face, and as he dropped his cent he bawled out, 'A fool and his money are soon parted.'"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

An Extinct Volcano.

On the island of Maui is Haleakala (house of the sun), the largest known extinct volcano in the world, its giant crater pit, resembling the yawning craters in the moon, being twenty-four miles in circumference and 2,000 feet deep. Sixteen subsidiary cones rise from its bed, some solitary, others in clusters. The base of the mountain itself has a circumference of ninety miles. On the island of Molokai is Kalamao, a fertile valley of about 20,000 acres, walled in by precipices 3,000 feet high.

A STRANGE WARNING.

The Way an English Officer Was Saved From Death.

"An English girl was engaged to be married to a young American who had been a student abroad," says Rev. Minot J. Savage in Ainslee's. "They had met at Heidelberg. He died suddenly after returning to this country. She came over here shortly afterward to visit his mother. While in New York she went to a medium. There was no appointment beforehand, and there was no way by which the psychic could know who she was. Taking her turn, she sat down by the medium, who went into a trance and began to speak. Immediately the girl's lover claimed to be present. He told her a number of things which only they two had ever known. He recalled circumstances connected with their acquaintance abroad.

"Now, it so happened that this young lady's father was an English officer in the war in South Africa. Among other things which the young man told was this: 'I am glad that I have been able to save your father's life once or twice during the past summer.'

"Now comes the strange coincidence, if coincidence only it be. The father writes home from South Africa, being entirely ignorant of all that had taken place here, and relates what seems to him a somewhat remarkable fact. He tells how he was sitting in his tent one day when there came upon him suddenly an unaccountable impression that he was in danger. It was as though some one were trying to make him feel this and induce him to move. So strong was the feeling that he got up and went over to the other side of the tent. He had hardly done this before a shell struck the chair where he had been sitting. Had he remained there he would have been instantly killed.

"Of course it is not asserted that this is anything more than a coincidence, but the suggestion is made that coincidences of this sort have been so very frequent as to make one wonder as to whether there is not some deeper meaning in it all."

An Extraordinary Duel.

One of the most remarkable duels ever fought, perhaps, took place in 1803 between two Frenchmen. Of course the quarrel arose about a lady, a certain Mlle. Tirevet, who, it appears, was unable to decide on which of the two she preferred. She finally found a way out of the difficulty by promising to marry whichever of them worsted the other. They thought over the matter in a calm and judicial spirit for a month and at the end decided to fight a duel in the air. Accordingly two balloons were made exactly alike, and upon the appointed day each soared aloft, accompanied by his second.

They were each armed with a blunderbass, the agreement being that they were to fire not at each other, but at the balloons. They arose to the height of half a mile, and then the preconcerted signal was given. One fired and missed. The other followed suit with more disastrous effect. He hit his opponent's balloon, which instantly collapsed, with the result that the occupants of the car were dashed to the earth with frightful rapidity and instantly killed.

PUNISHMENT.

Social progress has done away with a great many forms of punishment once administered under the laws of enlightened people. But nature never changes or modifies her penalties. She still has the same punishment for the man who neglects or abuses his stomach as she had in the far off days "when Adam delved and Eve span."

The physical discomfort, dullness, sluggishness, irritability, nervousness and sleeplessness which are visited upon the man who eats carelessly or irregularly have been from the beginning the evidences of disease of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures the diseased stomach and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, so that the sluggishness, irritability, nervousness and sleeplessness which result from innutrition are cured also.

"I was taken sick nine years ago with fever," writes Mr. M. M. Wardwell, of Linwood, Leavenworth Co., Kansas. "Had the doctor and he broke up the fever all right, but I took diarrhea right away; he couldn't cure it and it became chronic, and then he gave up the case. I got so weak with it and had piles so badly I couldn't lie down, nor hardly sit up. Was that way two or three months; thought I would never be well again,' but picked up one of Dr. Pierce's Memorandum Books one day and saw your description of catarrh of the stomach. I thought it hit my case. We had a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the house that was got for mother. You recommend it for catarrh of the stomach, so I went to taking it. The one bottle nearly cured me. I got two bottles next time and took one and one-half and was well. I haven't been bothered with diarrhea since."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

THE AWFUL CALAMITY.

THE French possession Martinique has been totally destroyed by the eruption of the volcano Pelee which spread fire and death over the town of St. Pierre and destroyed from 30,000 to 40,000 inhabitants. La Soifriere another volcano in the northern half of St. Vincent Island is also in eruption and is depopulating the land in as awfnl a manner as the first calamity.

It is only when we read of such terrible fatalities that we realize the mightiness of nature and man's helplessness.

He who is the "glory, jest and riddle of the world" is but a pigmay in the hands of Nature, whose only power is the humiliating realization of his position.

Mind and reason are but a magnifing glass given him that he may see more clearly the complexity of things and when he beholds and begins to have confidence in his own powers as the infinity toward which nature has been working, there comes some dreadful disaster to remind him that there is a mightier power at work and that he may be crushed as the frailest egg shell. Not a living creature can defy nature.

The pride of kings and emperors bow down before this nature throne. Humility is the lesson taught by calamity.

Death itself is a silent reminder of the omnipotence of nature but when a hissing and roaring volcano belches forth death in the form of hot ashes and fire, the mightiness of nature is all too terribly brought to the mind.

ADVERTISE SONOMA.

Now that the news of such awful disasters comes to us from other countries, we can well appreciate our beautiful Sonoma Valley.

People feel the importance of living in a country like ours when calamity is stalking in other lands.

California has none of the dreadful fatalities that are experienced in foreign lands and the East.

We have no killing summer heat, no thunderstorms, no floods, or cyclones. It is Gods own country.

We will make all this known in our special edition and above all Sonoma's flawless climate. We urge every property owner in the valley to send as many copies as possible abroad and to help beautify and embellish the edition by having their homes written up and pictured therein. It is the greatest opportunity in a lifetime to advertise the Valley's beauties and attractions, when so many thousand are anxious to settle in California. Nows the time to score. Call on us and order your papers and have your places among the attractions to Eastern visitors and homeseekers. Matter for our special editon is being sent to the linotype. The number will be the finest ever issued in the valley and will be just the thing to send East to your friends and relatives.

A Narrow Escape from Drowning.

Pauline Marcuicci, the little five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Marcuicci of Schellville fell into a large tank of water Wednesday and was almost drowned. Her ten-year old brother hearing the splash ran up the ladder to where the tank was situated and there beheld Pauline struggling in the water, her little hands thrown up. With great presence of mind he dragged the child out. After great effort she was revived and is now doing well.

SOME TINY PLANETS.

Celestial Bodies That Astronomers Are Not Greatly Pleased to Find.

In the space between Mars and Jupiter there are hundreds of little planets called asteroids which have been discovered during the last century by astronomers all over the world. Some of them are hardly bigger than a big western farm, and very few are large enough to be seen without the aid of a powerful telescope. Nowadays they are noted chiefly by photography and are interesting to professional astronomers only for their eccentricities.

It has been found, for example, by a computation made at the Harvard observatory that one of them approaches nearer to the sun than any other known planet and at the same time describes a greater ellipse around that body. This special asteroid was originally discovered on one of the photographic plates taken at Arequipa, the southern station of the Harvard observatory, from which the entire sky south of the equator and extending to the antarctic pole is photographed as a matter of routine once every month.

Astronomers do not take any special delight in finding asteroids, which, in fact, cause more trouble than they are worth, since, once discovered, they have to be first catalogued and then constantly watched in order to keep them in their proper relation to the other heavenly bodies in the more essential business of cataloguing the important stars. One German observatory accordingly makes a specialty of taking care of all asteroids and wherever found carefully numbers, names and describes them as rapidly as possible for the benefit of other astronomers with other work to do.

Wherefore?

"Huh!" growled the cynical celibate to the beaming Benedict. "Huh! you seem to know all about women, you do. Can you tell me why a pigeon toed woman is always duller of perception than one who isn't? And why would a woman rather be pretty than anything else? And why does a girl always giggle when she talks to a man? And why can't women pass a mirror without looking into it? And why are women so much more particular about the outside of their heads than they are of the inside? And why do women so much more admire bad men whom they love than they do good men who love them? And why do women dislike women in the same ratio that they like men? And why is it that women, who are meant to be heaven's best gift to man, ain't always? Say, tell me those, will you?" —Philadelphia North American.

When the Lamp is Lit and the Children are in Bed

The tired mother gets out her mending basket and begins to darn the holes made in the hose by the restless feet of her little ones. It is so good to be quiet for a little she thinks. But very soon the over-wrought nerves assert themselves. She feels dizzy, her head throbs, and she has to lay aside the work and creep wearily to rest.

All work brings a natural weariness, a healthy tiredness. But there is a weariness which is not natural and a tiredness which is not healthy. The utterly worn-out feeling experienced by so many women is not due as a rule to the physical exhaustion of labor, but to the draining away of the strength by womanly diseases. Nervousness, headache, backache, and sleeplessness are but a few of the common results of such a diseased condition. Yet thousands of women suffer from womanly diseases for years and make little or no effort to effect a cure. They treat womanly disease as if it was a purely local thing, and only wake up to the disastrous effect of the disease upon the general health, when there is an utter break down, followed perhaps by years of painful illness.

HOW TO BE CURED.

Any woman suffering from womanly disease can almost surely be cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This statement is based on the testimony of many thousands of women who have been cured of womanly diseases (often when aggravated by neglect or wrong treatment, and generally of a serious and painful nature), by the use of "Favorite Prescription."

"I used four bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Elmer D. Shearer, of Mounthope, Lancaster Co., Pa., "and can say that I am cured of that dreaded disease, uterine trouble. Am in better health than ever before. Every one who knows me is surprised to see me look so well. In June, when I wrote to you, I was so poor in health that at times I could not walk. You answered my letter then and told me what to do—I followed your advice, and to-day am cured. I tell everybody that with God's help, Dr. Pierce's medicines cured me. If these few words are of any use to you you are welcome to use them. They might help some other poor, suffering woman."

Mrs. Shearer's case is a fair example of the average cure effected by the use of "Favorite Prescription" both in the completeness and quickness of the cure. Of course, in complicated and chronic cases the cure may be slower but it is none the less sure if the medicine is faithfully used as directed. The records show that ninety-eight women in every hundred who have given "Favorite Prescription" a fair and faithful trial have been perfectly and permanently cured.

UNNATURAL CONDITIONS.

Every woman should remember that a diseased condition is unnatural. The natural condition of the womanly organism is a condition of health and "Favorite Prescription" works with nature on nature's lines to re-establish that condition of perfect health.

"I never courted newspaper notoriety," writes Mrs. E. A. Bender, of Keene, Coshocton Co., Ohio, "yet I am not afraid to speak a good word for 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' Over a year ago I suffered terribly for nearly four weeks with prolapsus and weakness. After using one bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Pellets' I was a well woman. I have taken no medicine since and have had no symptoms of my former trouble. Have used the 'Favorite Prescription' at different times for more than four years and find it has no equal."

When the womanly health is re-established, the general health at once improves. There is no more backache or headache. The nerves are quiet, the sleep is sound and the appetite natural.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is the best preparative for maternity, giving muscular strength and elasticity and rendering the baby's advent practically painless. As a tonic for weak and "run-down" women it is unequaled, and nursing mothers will find it superior to beer or any of the medicines or beverages commonly believed to have a tonic and strengthening value. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or any other narcotic.

SICK WOMEN

are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is treated as sacredly confidential and the written confidences of women are guarded by the same strict professional privacy observed by Dr. Pierce and his staff in personal consultations with women at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." The only motive for substitution is the little more profit made by the dealer on the sale of less meritorious medicines.

FREE MEDICAL BOOK.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing more than a thousand large pages is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Blood.

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It sets the whole body going again—man woman and child.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

PASSED AWAY.

Mrs. Elizabeth O'Brien Succumbs to Old Age.

Mrs. Elizabeth O'Brien, who has been residing with Mr. and Mrs. John Watt for some time past, died last Saturdry morning after an illness of about a week. Although the kindest care and attention were given the old lady by the Watt family, nothing could be done for her and she passed peaceful away.

Old age is said to have been the cause of her death. She was 75 years of age and a native of County Leitrim, Ireland. Her only daughter is abroad at present and is said to be in Paris.

The funeral of Mrs. O'Brien took place from the residence of John Watt Sunday morniug. Funeral services were held in St. Francis' Church and the remains interred in the Catholic Cemetery.

FOURTH DISTRICT FAIR'

Will be Held in Town Offering Best Inducements.

The board of directors of the Fourth Agricultural district, embracing the counties of Marin and Sonoma, held a meeting in Santa Rosa on Saturday morning and upon motion it was decided to give a fair this fall in the city offering the best inducements, the sub scriptions in support thereof not to be less than $3,500.

The old board of directors concluded its business and then the officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. The officers are as follows: John P. Overton, president; L. W. Burris, treasurer, and Allen B. Lemmon, secretary.

The directors present were: John P. Overton, T. P. Keegan, W. J. Bardley and Frank Muther, Santa Rosa; J. H. Pryor, Sausalito; J. B. Wattles, Healdsburg; H. M. LeBaron, Valley Ford, Allen B. Lemmon, secretary. Director Burdell was absent.

The financial and other reports were read and was passed upon by the directors. All were of a very satisfactory nature.

At a meeting, which will be held two weeks hence, the board of directors will receive propositions and will settle upon the place for holding the fair, and the premium list will then be announced as soon as possible.

It was the judgment of the board of directors that the fair should be held the week commencing Monday, September 1st, and ending September 6th. A motion to this effect was adopted.

CITY TRUSTEES.

Special Meeting to Darken the Town.

The City Trustees met Tuesday evening with following members present: J. E. Poppe, Chairman, Trustees Breitenbach, Pinell, Cuicci and Hotz.

Meeting was special one called for the purpose of arrainging with the Electric Light Company in regard to lighting the city and to let out bids for sprinkling streets and cleaning grass surrounding the plaza.

A resolution was introduced by Geo. Breitenbach to the effect that the city enter into a contract with the Electric Light Company to furnish the city with 25 lights, for a sum not to exceed $25. Messrs. Breitenbach and Pinelli voted aye and Messrs. Hotz and Cuicci no, whereupon chairman Poppe decided in favor of the affirmatives and the resolution was passed.

Trustee Hotz and W. R. Rutledge, lesse of the electric light plant argued the impossibility of furnishing light at such a rate but the resolution nevertheless went through. Bids were then opened for street sprinkling and the contract awarded to John Stademan the lowest bidder. His bid was $2.49 per day. He was compelled to give a bond of $50.

Clement Fhliscini was awarded the contract to remove grass from around the Plaza. His bid was $15.

The meeting then adjourned.

Catholic Church.

Father Valentini of Sausalito will be in Sonoma on Monday, May 19th. The object of his coming is to give a mission in the Italian language to the Italian people of this valley. He will remain three days. The Italian people are requested to attend the exercises of the mission at St. Francis' Church.

GETS TEN YEARS.

Semore to go to Folsom.

Chas. Semore, the forger, who was captured here by Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan and found guilty of passing a worthless check on Geo. Seawell of Healdsburg, will go to to Folsom for ten years.

The sentence was passed by the court Monday morning but Semore took it in a very matter of fact way as if he were an old offender.

His actions and the evidence given against him led the court to believe that he has been guilty of more than one offense and the fact that he had several aliases also looked bad for him.

Semore forged a check in Healdsburg several months ago and then skipped out and went into hiding here. He shaved his beard and moustache so as not to be recognized by his picture and took quarters at the "The Louvre" on Spain street. He secured employment as a wood chopper on the Bill ranch and after hours spent his time in the saloons and at the card tables.

One day Sheriff Grace got wind of his presence here and Deputy Sheriff Ryan was put on his track.

His arrest and conviction followed.

Ins and Outs at High School.

A most delightful time was enjoyed by the Middlers and Seniors at a picnic given by the Juniors at Graham's canyon to them, last Saturday. As the jolly students passed through town with merry voices, shouts of rang in peals of happiness. Three cheers for the Juniors.

Sonoma Valley High School,

We are looking forward with regret to the near approaching graduation of our Seniors. We will miss the smiling faces of Misses Ruth McQuiddy, Bertha McGimsey, Anita Emparan, Messrs. Guy Weems, Chester Trudgen and Kenneth Weaver, who graduate this June.

The Middle and Sunior classes held a meeting yesterday to discuss the Senior reception which they intend giving in the near future.

The tennis court is slowly but surely coming into evidence.

A "candy pull," has been suggested by the Middle class as a return for the pleasant time given them by the Juniors last Saturday.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Frederick Clewe Passes Away Thursday.

A Prominent and Successful Business Man.

"One morn I miss'd him on the custom'd hill along the heath and near his fav'rite tree."

Frederick Clewe, tne well-known merchant is dead. He passed suddenly away Thursday morning. Heartfailure, from which he has been a sufferer for some time, is said to have been the immediate cause of his taking off.

Having passed a very peaceful night and enjoying a good rest, Mr. Clewe attempted to arise about 7 o'clock Thursday morning as was his custom, but he was suddenly seized with severe pains about his heart and fell back exhausted on his pillow. Dr. Rich was hastily summoned and although he did all within his power to save him he was unable to relieve the sufferer, who sank steadily and finally passed away about 9 o'clock.

Mr. Clewe was an old and well known resident of Sonoma. He came here from Germany when quite a young man and engaged in business with his brother in-law F. Duhring. After a few years he went into business for himself and since then has conducted the large merchandise store on the corner of Napa and Broadway streets.

Mr. Clewe has been a very successful business man and has accumilated considerable property through his thrift and consciencious business methods. He was a progressive and enterprising citizen and owned one of the finest business blocks and handsomest homes in town.

Mr. Clewe was above all a gentleman. He was corteous and affable to all and a devoted husband and father.

His sad demise is regretted by a large circle of friends and acquaintences, who will miss his kindly presence in our community.

The deceased leaves a wife Marie and six children, Will, Frido, Doris, Ernest, Marie and Elaina.

Funeral services were held at the family residence yesterday at 3 P. M. and were largely attended.

The remains were taken to San Francisco for cremation in Odd Fellow's Crematory.

Grangers to Picnic.

A picnic will be given under the auspices of the Glen Ellen Grange at Glen Ellen Park on June 7th. Charles J. Poppe, Miss Nellie Bishop and Charles Kennedy form the committee of arrangements.

THE CAUSE OF JEALOUSY.

Is This Passion the Outcome of Self Consciousness and Vanity?

Jealousy we all know or have heard of. In connection with the sexual passions it plays an enormous part in the lives of all nations, but especially the southern and eastern. That sort of jealousy seems to need heat, sunlight, to bring it to perfection. But there is another sort, the jealousy of the artist, that seems to need nothing but the atmosphere of the studio, the concert room, the opera house, and it immediately begins to flourish with a virulence that leaves nothing to be desired. Every one must at some time have asked himself, Why on earth should artists—poets, good or bad; painters, musicians, actors—be so fearfully jealous of one another?

You cannot be a poet and live by your trade. If you are going to live by poetry, you must be the poet, the man of the day. In painting the same holds in a lesser measure. More people can live by painting than by poetry. In military matters also the same is true. A man gets his promotion less through his merit than by being known. In music a composer must be head and shoulders above his fellows before he can earn his daily bread. And in singing, especially opera singing, a man or woman must have a "name" before he or she can consider his or her position assured.

This struggle for pre-eminence would alone account for much of the jealousy of the operatic profession, and also, it might be added, of the actor's profession. But has not the fact of appearing under the public gaze some connection with the matter? There are few people who can be looked at without deteriorating. They become self conscious, vain, and as soon as vanity comes in jealousy joins it.—Saturday Review.

What He Was There For.

There is at least one court in the world, an English midland assizes, the judge of which is not afraid to say that black is black. The Birmingham Post gives the following glimpse of his method of dealing out justice:

A respectable looking man was in the court in the autumn session. The charge was theft. The aggregate value involved was considerable, and the plea was guilty, but it was alleged that there were extenuating circumstances.

The defense introduced a medical expert to testify for the prisoner. He said that the self confessed thief had kleptomania.

"What's that?" asked the judge gravely.

"Er—it's—er—a disease, my lord," said the astonished expert.

"What kind of a disease?" asked the judge.

"Well, it's a—er—a mental disease that causes the subject to appropriate property not his own," stammered the physician.

"Makes him steal?" asked the judge.

"Yes, my lord, that is generally the effect."

"I know the disease," said his honor, a grim smile in his eyes. "I know the disease, and I am sent here to cure it."

The Difficulty With Chinese.

The difficulty of a foreigner learning the Chinese language may be inferred from the statement of an English traveler. He and his companion previous to starting for China had supplied themselves with a Chinese grammar. In a day or two the discovery was made that the single letter "i" had 145 ways of being pronounced and that each pronunciation had an entirely different meaning. Then it dawned upon them that there was no poetry about the Chinese language, that it was not worth learning and their grammar was secretly consigned to the river mud by being dropped overboard.

A Competent Teacher.

The London Times once contained an advertisement for an assistant "capable of teaching the classics as far as Homer and Virgil." Among the answers received was this delightful specimen:

Sir—With reference to the advertisement which was inserted in The Times newspaper a few days since respecting a school assistant I beg to state that I should be happy to fill that situation, but as most of my friends reside in London and not knowing how far Homer and Virgil is from town, I beg to state that I should not like to engage to teach the classics farther than Hammersmith or Turnham Green or at the very utmost distance farther than Brentford. Awaiting your reply, I am sir, etc.

Once Honored.

Once before being placed in his tomb every Parisian may be the recipient of homage as profound as would be given to a potentate. It is when going to his own funeral. Men uncover their heads, and women devoutly cross themselves while the hearse is passing. This is true even of the drivers of tram cars, buses and drays and of the maids in white caps.

Whooping Cough.

A woman who has had experience with this disease, tells how to prevent any dangerous consequences from it. She says: "Our three children took whooping cough last summer, our baby boy being only three months old, and owing to our giving them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, they lost none of their plumpness and came out in much better health than other children whose parents did not use this remedy. Our oldest little girl would call lustily for cough syrup between whoops.—Jessie Pinkey Hall, Springfield, Ala. This remedy is for sale by F. Duhring. *

Sciatic Rheumatism Cured After Fourteen Years of Suffering.

"I have been afflicted with sciatic rheumatism for fourteen years," says John Edgar of Germantown, Cal. "I was able to be around but constantly suffered. I tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured, and I am happy to say it has not since returned." Why not use this liniment and get well? It is for sale by F. Duhring. *

His Secret of Happiness.

The famous Professor Blackie was once waiting for a certain train and was marching up and down the platform whistling gayly and for all the world like a schoolboy en route home for his holidays. A gentleman near by, at once recognizing the picturesque figure and wishing to enter into conversation with him, went up to him and asked him:

"Professor, may I ask the secret of your happiness?"

The genial professor smiled and answered:

"Well, here is the secret of my happiness: I have no vain regrets for the past, I look forward with hope to the future and I always strive to do my duty. There," he ended emphatically, "you have it." And he straightway set to and walked up and down again, whistling as before.—London Tit-Bits.

A Whistling Language.

The aborigines of the Malabar islands employ a perfect whistling language by means of which they can communicate with each other over long distances. A stranger wandering over the islands is frequently surprised to hear from a hilltop the sound of loud whistling, which is quickly repeated on the next hill and so is carried from summit to summit until it dies away in the distance.

But perhaps the most curious means of communication in the world is the drum language of a Kongo tribe. These queer people can talk to each other with large drums made of bamboo hoops, over which the skin of some animal is stretched. The drum, however, is used only on important occasions.

ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF
DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE
by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.
HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.
F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,
F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.
